WASHINGTON ITEMS.

MOVEMENT FOR A NEW PARTY.

A pretty extensive movement is on foot here, which includes both Senators and members of the Republican stripe, in favor of a new party. It is said that Ohio is leading off in the matter, and that several meetings have already been held, and the matter fully discussed. The President has been consulted in regard to the matter, and, it is said, approves of the idea.—The principles of their faith is the President's policy.—Correspondence of New York World.

THE PRESIDENT'S SPEECH.

The Raymond branch of the National Executive Republican Committee have ordered one hundred thousand copies of the President's speech, made on the 22d of February, for general distribution over the country.

ARREST OF QUANTRELL.

A man was arrested in New York and brought to this city yesterday, who is said to be Quantrell, the guerrilla chief. Papers were found upon him which, it is said, are sufficient to identify him. He is confined in the Fourth Artillery guard-house.—Star, 14th.

ADMISSION OF SOUTHERN REPRESENTATIVES.

That Tennessee will be admitted, so far as Congress is concerned, at an early day, does not seem to be doubted. The Democrats themselves find it is useless to raise antagonism to the report of the Reconstruction Committee, accompanied as it is by such a formidable array of evidence. Then will come the admision of the ten other States, and the basis of their restoration will be, I think, something like the following: That the rebel debt be repudiated; that all black codes and class legislation be repealed; that all colored men who fought for the Union and were honorably discharged, and all who read and write, shall vote at all elections for President, Congress, Governors, and Legislatures.—Cor. Phila. Press.

QUAKERS MOVING.

The boat from Aquia Creek this morning brought up seventy-five Quakers from Randolph county, North Carolina, who are on their way to settle in Indiana. One hundred and fifty more from the same county will soon follow.

SOEE FUN IN CONGRESS.

During the discussion, Wednesday, of the bill concerning the Paris Exposition, Mr. L. Blond suggested that among other great American curiosities, the Freedmen's Bureau be sent to this exhibition. He had no doubt but the emigrants would admire a country that could produce such a thing. (Great laughter.)

Mr. Washburne, of Illinois, offered an amendment that none of the appropriation should be expended until the French troops are withdrawn from Mexico. (Applause, and hisses in the crowded galleries and on the floor.) The amendment was rejected.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON'S VIEWS.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Advertiser says:

"The President evidently feels that he is master of the situation, and he is terribly in earnest in his opposition to Congress, especially when he finds himself attacked as he was on Saturday by Mr. Stevens. He told a New England Congressman, on Monday, that Louisiana is now more loyal than she ever was, her large foreign population never having transferred the allegiance which they bore to France before the treaty of transfer; and that South Carolina is more loyal than she has been since the nullification fever began to break out. But he intimated that other sections of the Union are not displaying much loyalty, and that the next rebellion may be commenced in Massachusetts.

(Special Dispatch to the Baltimore Sun.)

THE COMPTROLLER OF CURRENCY WORKING FOR THE RADICALS—NEW HAMPSHIRE AND CONNECTICUT ELECTIONS.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—The Comptroller of Currency has been at the Senate all day to prevent the passage of the loan bill. He is acting in the interests of the radical cabal, who are elated by the success of their double-dealing game to carry New Hampshire. Upon this they predicate victory in Connecticut; but the President has directed the removal of some postmasters in that State who are hostile to him. This creates a tremor in republican circles. The New Hampshire fraud will hardly be allowed to succeed in Connecticut. ALPHA.

Proceedings of Congress.

WASHINGTON, March 15.

SENATE.—Mr. Riddle, from the Printing Committee, reported a resolution to print ten thousand copies of the report of the Joint Committee on Reconstruction, with the accompanying testimony, for the use of the Senate.

Mr. Davis said: "I would like to know upon what principle of justice and impartiality the evidence is taken. One gentleman of North Carolina, one of the truest and most honorble patriots in the land, gave me this information in relation to the State of North Carolina. He informed me that the evidence of some men connected with the Freedmen's Bureau had been taken. He addressed a letter to a member of the committee, requesting that the witnesses whose names had been suggested by those who claimed seats in the Senate and House should be allowed to give their evidence before the committee. When I last conversed with him he had received no such privilege. If a just and intelligent and impartial committee would seek for the truth, in relation to this matter, the inquiry would be a subject of deep interest to the country, but if that committee proceeds upon the principles of suppressing evidence, suppressing the truth and silencing, or, at least, refusing to hear evidence in behalf of the gentlemen who claim seats in the two Houses from the eleven excluded States, I, for one, am opposed to publishing, at the public expense, the results of their labors. I do not believe, at least I have very little faith, in the various letters and information read to the Senate by the Honorable Senator from Massachusetts, presented to this body. I have no confidence whatever, or very little, in the testimony which the men in the employment of the Freedmen's Bureau give in relation to the state of public sentiment in the Southern States." Mr. Davis said that as a sample of the kind of evidence furnished by those employed by the Freedmen's Bureau, he would read from a speech made a few weeks ago by Gen. Clinton B. Fiske, in Cincinnati, and published in the Cincinnati Commercial. He characterized the statements in it in relation to the treatment of negroes in Kentucky as false and calumnious.

Four members of the Reconstruction Committee, Messrs. Grimes, Fessenden, Johnson and Williams, in reply to Mr. Davis, said that every man who had been named in the committee by the applicants for seats in Congress, had been examined by the committee.

The Senate concurred in the House amendment to the civil rights bill, which finally passed. The bill only awaits the Executive signature now to become a law.

HOUSE.—The House has been engaged in the consideration of the loan bill.

E. F. Coe's Super-Phosphate of Lime,
OR BONE MANURE.
WARRANTED GENUINE.

BEING MADE OF THE BEST MATERIAL AND in the most approved manner, it is recommended to the public as superior to any other in the market. All who have used it speak of it in the highest terms of praise, and those engaged in its manufacture will continue their best endeavors to advance the high reputation which it has acquired.

We guarantee the Phosphate to be well manufactured, and recommend it in preference to any other artificial manure in the market. We consider it nearly equal to the best Peruvian Guano, although furnished at half the price.

Messrs. B. H. Allen & Co., the well known manufacturers of agricultural implements, say of it:

"We take pleasure in stating that we have sold E. F. Coe's Super-Phosphate of Lime for four years.—It has given universal satisfaction to our customers. We most cheerfully endorse it as an article worthy of the confidence of the public, and the purchaser may rely upon securing an article honestly and carefully manufactured.

"We would state that, after careful examination, we believe this Phosphate has been improved each year since its introduction in this market, and that it will continue to maintain its present high standing. "Very respectfully,
"R. H. ALLEN & CO.,
"No. 191 Water street, New York."

R. FRANK COE, Esq.,

Annexed please find result of my analysis of sample of your Super Phosphate of Lime left with me. This being such a superior article in every respect, I cannot refrain from congratulating you upon such manufacture, which undoubtedly will meet with great success.

Wishing you every success, I am,
Respectfully yours,
G. A. LEBIG.

The COSMOPOLITE will be devoted to Literature, Art, Reviews, Scientific Papers and General Reading, and we shall number among its contributors some of the first literary men of the South, with others from the North and from London and Paris.

All matter not original will be carefully selected from the newest and best of the English, French and German publications; and its Editors will spare no effort or expense to make it rank with the VERY FIRST magazines of the country.

As its name imports, we have established the COSMOPOLITE upon no sectional basis. We hope to make it the organ of general literature alone; and will be uninfluenced by any party or clique whatever.

It will be mailed to subscribers in any part of the country upon receipt of the following
Subscription:

Single Copies, for one year,	$4 00
Five Copies for one year,	16 00
Ten copies for one year,	30 00

☞ The COSMOPOLITE will be generally distributed among the Merchants and Planters of the South, and we will add, for their information, a few advertisements, at moderate rates.

☞ Liberal deductions will be made to booksellers and newsdealers.

☞ Newspapers publishing this prospectus and sending a marked copy to the undersigned, will receive a copy of the magazine. Address

Weekly per year,	3 00

Our terms are invariably in advance. The Weekly and Semi-weekly will be issued about the first of January. Money may be sent us by the Rail Road conductors or the Express Companies.

The Semi-Weekly Sentinel.

The Semi-Weekly Sentinel will be issued on Wednesday next. It will be issued regularly on Wednesday and Saturday evenings, and mailed at once to subscribers. Price $5 00 per year.

To Subscribers.

We are sending the Sentinel to a number of our friends who have not paid us. The time of a number has expired, but, believing they desired its continuance, we have continued it.—We regret to say, that our expenses are so heavy for paper, &c., that we shall be compelled to discontinue the paper to all who do not pay up by the 1st. of April next. Notice the cross mark. This arrangement does not apply to our city subscribers whom we can see any day.

Our Disloyalty.

The Standard has been so unscrupulous of late in its denunciations of our people as traitors and disloyalists, we have on several occasions challenged it to name one in the State.—The only response to this, has been a charge of disloyal feeling on the editors of the Sentinel.—How a writer of the alleged shrewdness of the editor of the Standard could risk any charge upon such evidence as he brings forward to prove our disloyal feeling, is unaccountable, except upon the supposition that he supposes his readers are all children or too ignorant to detect the utter failure.

He bases his charge, first, upon our declaration, that the circumstances under which the repudiation of the State war debt was forced upon the Convention were humiliating. Secondly, upon our denunciations of the so-called Union men. Thirdly, upon our apology for the ladies who would not walk under the flag. And, fourthly, because our Associate expressed his disapprobation of the purpose for which the flags were stretched across the streets! The bare mention of such evidence to prove our disloyalty, is really enough to make one laugh. But they are put forth with gravity, and we briefly notice them.

1. The Sentinel has always maintained that the surrender of the Confederates was unconditional—that the President, the conqueror, being the embodiment of the civil and military authority of the government, had the right to impose such terms as he thought proper, and that we were bound to yield to them—and that if he required the repudiation of the State war debt, there was an end to all controversy on the subject, but, in the absence of such requirement, we were opposed to repudiation in any form.

Before the Convention met, it had been very generally agreed, that unless the President absolutely required it of the Convention, sound policy dictated that the Convention should pass over entirely the question of the State debt, for the reason that it was feared, if the question was agitated then, it would arouse our people to universal and utter repudiation of all debts. Gov. Holden and the Standard were parties to this understanding; i. e. it was generally understood, that they acquiesced in this view.—Most of the Convention so understood it and acquiesced in it. Soon, however, the repudiating members began to agitate the question.—This was partially silenced, by the circulation of a letter among the members of the Convention written by Dr. Powell, of Washington City, in which he stated that nearly every member of the Cabinet, and, if we mistake not, the President also, had expressed the opinion to him, that it would be premature to agitate the question then. So the Convention thought, and the matter was hushed. Bear in mind, that at no time, up to this period, had any member of the Convention expressed any opposition whatever to the views of the President on that subject.

Many were opposed to all repudiation—but they yielded the right of the President to require it, if he so elected. But the majority of the Convention was decidedly opposed to any action at that time, because of the effect it might have upon the people, exciting them to general repudiation. Gov. Holden was all this time supposed to sympathize with these views. In a few days, however, the indications were that Mr Settle, of Rockingham, by his movements was leading the repudiationists, who soon discovered that the Convention could not be moved from its purpose to delay action, unless the President could be induced to demand it peremptorily. Mr. Settle and his friends urged the matter in every form, until, upon the very heel of the Convention, the President's telegram came. It was like a clap of thunder upon the Convention.

When we read the President's telegram, we were satisfied that it was an answer to a letter or telegram of a peculiar character—that the President had been misled as to the temper and feeling both of the Convention and our people. The friends of repudiation and of Gov. Holden protested that it was a peremptory demand from the President. We believed it was advisory and not peremptory, and hence, under the circumstances, we declared that the Convention had been humiliated. We think so still. How? Not because of the action of the President, certainly; because we had admitted his right to demand it. But the humiliation arose from the conduct of Gov. Holden, who had misled the Convention into the idea first, that the President did not demand prompt action upon the question, and then had induced the President to believe that prompt action was necessary—thus making a tool of the Convention, forcing it, by a coup d'etat, to accomplish for his purposes a political manœuvre. This was the reason why we said the circumstances were humiliating, and to show our meaning, we then demanded, in justice to the President and the Convention, that the letter or telegram, to which the President's telegram was an answer, should be published. We attached no blame to the President whatever, but to the manœuvering of the then Provisional Governor. If there was any disloyalty in that, then we plead guilty. Not without. We have seen Gov. Holden's telegram to the President since, and it confirms our previous opinion.

2. The Standard in its second charge totally perverts and misrepresents our language. We have never said aught against the truly honest and sincere Union men of the South, who have acted with prudence and exhibited the ordinary feelings of humanity and sympathy for their Southern brethren. We have the highest respect for those who honestly maintained their opinions. But we have affirmed and believe it, that, along with them, the truest men in the South to the Union are those who were true to the Southern cause to the last, after they were compelled by the stress of circumstances to oppose Northern abolitionism by force of arms, but, having been defeated and grounded their arms, have sworn to support the Constitution of the United States. That is what we have said. Such men can be trusted. They have never proved false to any cause, and never will.

But what we have said, which has been offensive to our neighbor, has been entirely meant for what we call so-called Union men. True Union men we confide in, but bogus Union men, we do not. They pretended to be Southern men; some of them, like the editor of the Standard, advocated and urged for years the doctrine of secession—were the first to denounce Mr. Lincoln's proclamation—voted for secession—threw up their hats when North Carolina declared herself out of the Union—signed the ordinance of secession, and preserved the gold pen as a memento of the act—rallied the Southern men to the field—abused the Yankees outright—abused Mr. Lincoln—denounced the whole North—huzzaed over Southern victories—were ready to fight "to the last dollar and the last man"—rallied, plead for the war and the South for more than two full years, and then raised a clamor against the Confederate authorities because of their partizan administration of affairs, and not because they prosecuted the war, until these so-called Union men got fully whipped, then turned against their former associates whom they had led and urged into the conflict, and now denounce them as traitors, because they had "sworn to their own hurt and changed not." That kind of Union men we have no use for. They cannot be trusted. They proved false in the green tree; what will they not do in the dry?

3. It charges us with apologising for the ladies who refused to walk under the flag. We neither apologised for the ladies' disloyalty nor admitted that they were disloyal. The editor of the Standard, to whom we had always given due credit for being courteous and gallant to ladies, had the discourtesy to charge them with disloyalty and did not state the facts. We simply gave the facts, which proved they were not disloyal to the government, but were indisposed to submit their loyalty to the tests which were employed, and to be made the butt of ridicule.

4. Our Associate is as loyal as the editor of the Standard, or any other man. When the flag of his country occupies its proper position, with its folds thrown to the breeze, he feels no sentiment opposed to loyalty, when he walks under it, but when it is designedly stretched across the streets, without an order from the authorities to do so, for the purpose of reflecting upon the loyalty of our people, he enters his caveat.

THE NEW YORK Independent bewails the decline of the gospel in the State of Connecticut. That an interest in religion in all the New England States should become slack is not at all surprising, when we consider the lengths to which the pulpits there have been prostituted to base and miserable partisan service.

In this connection, we have been struck with the remark of some cotemporary, to the effect that all the pestilent excitements that have disturbed the country for the last thirty years have originated in the State of Massachusetts. This is pretty near the truth. It was in Boston that the English abolitionist, Thompson, first set in motion the terrible agitation which finally deluged the land in fraternal blood. It is mainly from the same hot-bed and centre of mischief that are now being diffused the elements of fanaticism and discord, that threaten the subversion of the government and the overthrow of Republican institutions. We presume that no one can doubt that, could such fanatical disturbers of the public peace as Sumner, Wilson and Phillips, have been put aside, after the suspension of hostilities, the country would now be in the enjoyment of peace and quiet. These men are architects of ruin, if we may use the expression. They impersonate the Scriptural swine into which the devils were driven.—Heaven grant that they may be "rushing violently down" to their own destruction, instead of that of our common country!

DISPATCHES from Canada state that the Fenian excitement knows no abatement, while the late European advices represent it as on the increase in England. There may be some cause of apprehension, on the part of England, and some grounds for hope of Irish independence, but for our life we can't see either. At present, from our stand-point, we hardly know which is more ridiculous,—the loud-mouthed boasting of the Mahoney party, or the intense fright and indecent excitement on the other side.

"Riding both Sides."

In the good old days of the Whig and Democratic parties, it was no uncommon thing to witness double feats of horsemanship in the political ring. In these modern times, it is quite refreshing to witness the repetition of this old trick of getting on two horses at the same time. We do not remember to have seen the feat performed with greater dexterity than by our neighbor of the Standard in his simultaneous endorsement of Congress and the Radicals. While the whole country is looking on, with bated breath, at the terrible conflict that is being waged by the one against the other, and recognizes the awful solemnity of the issue, it is reserved for the legerdemain of the Standard to reconcile the contending parties and to pronounce that there is really no collision. It would have its peculiar friends in North Carolina believe that the President and Congress are fully agreed in all essential particulars, and particularly agreed in their endorsement of the course which it would have them pursue. This trickery will avail nothing. The people are not blind, and the time is rapidly approaching when the Standard will be constrained to mount one horse on the other.—Its awkward attempt to ride both will excite only ridicule and contempt. Which it will mount, ultimately, there can be but little doubt. All the internal evidences go to show that, while it is professing to sustain the President, all its sympathies are really with the Radicals.

Meanwhile, its dilemma in endeavoring to avoid breaking with either Congress or the Executive is aptly illustrated by an improved Irish version of an old fable, which the late Sargent S. Prentiss applied, in the old Jackson times, to a case somewhat similar. The story, as he told it, ran thus:

"Once upon a time," "the lion made a fire in his den of a mighty bad smell intirely, and then he called in the bastes of the field to give an opinion of the same." And he says to the bear, says he, "And Mr. Bear, how do you like the smell of me parlor to-day?" And says the honest old bear, says he, "It smells bad." "Take that for yer impedince?" says the lion, giving the ould bear a whack that knocked the breath out of him intirely, after which he ate him up comfortably and called in the monkey; and says he to the monkey, says he, "And how do ye like the smell of me parlor;" says he, "Yer honor it's the most delightful smell I ever smelt in all my life!" "Take that for lying," says the lion, knocking him down and eating him up, after which he called in the fox, and says he, "Mr. Fox, and how do ye like the smell of me parlor to-day?" But the fox, when he saw the carcass of the monkey that the lion had just ate, lying dead in the corner, he whisked his tail across his eyes, as much as to say: "Do ye see anything green there, hinney?" and he says, says he, "It's me that's got such a cowld, I can't smell at all, at all." Then the lion laughed and told the fox he was a clever baste, and might tread in his footsteps, if he could straddle wide enough."

Internal Improvement Bonds Issued During the War.

In response to enquiries by Kemp P. Battle, Esq., Public Treasurer, Hon. S. H. Rogers, Attorney General, has decided that past due coupons of bonds, issued during the war under acts passed prior to May 20th., 1861, are fundable under the act of March 10th., 1866, commonly called the "Funding Act." Holders must cut them from the bonds in presence of the Treasurer. We will publish the correspondence in our next.

The coupons of bonds issued for the benefit of the Chatham Railroad Company are not fundable,—the bonds having been issued under an ordinance of the Convention.

Mr. Jenkins' Speech.

We have received, and shall publish, some time during the present week, the speech of Mr. Jenkins, of Warren, on the subject of negro testimony. We have no orders, up to the present time, for the publication of this speech in pamphlet form, and, unless they are received within a few days, we shall be unable to do so. Persons desiring extra copies of the Sentinel containing the speech would do well to apply immediately.

PATRICK MURPHY, ESQ.—We are gratified to learn that this gentleman, one of the Commoners from the county of Sampson, who has been critically ill at the Exchange Hotel, in this City, for several weeks, is pronounced, by his physicians, to be now out of danger. This will be gratifying intelligence to the numerous friends of this gentleman.

WE STILL have on hand several hundred pamphlet copies of Mr. Phillips' speech on the subject of Negro evidence, which can be had, on application at this office, at $2 per hundred, or they will be sent to any address, postage pre-paid, for $2,50 per hundred.

FOR LATEST Washington news and gossip, and other interesting matter, see the first and fourth pages of to-day's issue.

The Next Cotton Crop.

In the March number of De Bow's Review, the editor, who has just completed a tour through the cotton States, estimates the next cotton crop at not more than one million five hundred thousand bales. He adds:

These figures are not likely to be increased by anything that is now to happen, and may be greatly reduced by the ignorance, neglect or desertion of the laboring forces, which, judging from the experience of all other countries, is more likely to occur than not, and reduce the crop to one million or one million two hundred thousand bales. No account is taken in the calculation of the application of white labor to cotton, beyond what was applied to it before the war. The extensive mortality of the war has made white labor at the South very scarce, and so far it is absorbed in the necessary pursuits of the mechanic arts and trade, which have been furnishing most lucrative employment. The wear and tear and frightful destruction caused by the war opened other channels of employment besides agriculture. The increase of white labor at the South, so far as the next crop is concerned, from immigration, is too trifling to be taken into account. The aggregate number of laborers introduced is insignificant, and, so far, is largely absorbed in the cities.

For the Sentinel.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—You were undoubtedly right, and, as usual, the Standard was wrong, touching the evidence of Gen. Thomas before the "Central Directory" by the President "so-called," as is now evident from the awkward attempt by the Standard of this morning to justify; wherein is given a portion of the evidence of Gen. T., as officially reported.

The Standard of the 12th, in an editorial, said: "General Thomas says that secret organizations exist in all the rebel States, whose purpose is to obtain representation in Congress, then to impair or destroy the credit of the National Government, involve the country in a foreign war, and then avail themselves of the opportunity thus created to effect a dissolution of the Union and the establishment of a separate government."

And then the Standard, adds:

"This is startling information. This secret organization is, no doubt, in existence in North Carolina. It is highly treasonable in its character, and those who belong to it should be ferreted out and brought to punishment."

Now, the above extract, purporting to be the direct statement of certain facts by Gen. Thomas, was not made by him, but was made by Messrs Washburne and Boutwell, two of the "Central Directory," whose report the Standard has published.

The report says: "It appears conclusively from the testimony of Maj. Genl. Thomas, that secret organizations exist, &c., &c."

This, and the whole of what follows, is the language of committee men, and not of Genl. Thomas. The Standard, with its accustomed fairness, drops the words which I have put in italics, showing that the language used was that of the committee men, and boldly asserts that Genl. Thomas himself had so stated.

It now gives what Gen. Thomas did say, and let the reader mark the difference. The General says:

"I have received communications from various persons in the South that there was an understanding among the rebels and perhaps organizations formed or forming, for the purpose of gaining as many advantages for themselves as possible. I have heard it intimated that these men are very anxious and would do all in their power to involve the United States in a foreign war, so that if a favorable opportunity should offer, they might turn against the government of the United States again."

Such is the statement of Genl. Thomas, so far as any facts are concerned. All else, as reported, is mere surmise, mere inference on his part.

And, now, I ask, was the Standard warranted in saying what it did? Were the committee men even justified in saying that it was "conclusively" proved, or proved at all, that secret organizations existed in the South to overthrow the government? No fair minded man will say so. What would evidence like this weigh in a court of Justice? Nothing—not a feather. It was mere hearsay—"he had received communications that there was an understanding, &c," and "perhaps, of organizations formed or forming," &c. He had "heard it also intimated," that these men were anxious to do so and so.—Was there ever the like before, that such evidence should be held to be proof of any thing?

The General does not even give the names of those who made these communications or intimations, so that it might be seen what sort of persons they were and what were their means of information. He said they did not, for the present, wish to be known, and so he declined to give their names.

Such is a sample of the "conclusive" evidence which the committee of fifteen is now assiduously preparing to prejudice the people of the North against those of the South. The Standard and its conductors could furnish a plenty of the same sort. The object is, of course, to defeat the policy of the President, and prevent a restoration of the Southern States, by spreading such evidence, garbled and misquoted, broadcast over the land. The Standard seems to be doing what it can to aid this purpose of the radicals.

Hence it not only publishes such evidence, if evidence it may be called, in its daily issues, but perverts it, and loses no opportunity to traduce and malign our own people. It not only represents Gen. Thomas as saying what he did not say, but adds, "this secret organization is no doubt in existence in North Carolina."

Is it strange, that the Editor of the Standard, by the course he is pursuing, should have become so utterly odious as he is, to the great mass of the people of North Carolina?

IMPORTANT SALE.

THE subscriber, as the administrator with the will annexed of the late John S. Brown of Pitt county, offers for sale,

Seventeen hundred and sixty Acres of land on Swift Creek, in Pitt county: There are 200 acres of the land cleared, with comfortable building. 700 acres of the tract is well set, with the finest Cypress in the State. The balance of the tract is high Pineywoods land, well set with pitch pine, and offers the finest facility for making turpentine and tar, of any in the eastern part of the State.

This body of land lies in a thickly settled and thriving section of Pitt county and is offered for sale under the provisions of the will of my said testator. I am authorized to do so and will sell the same at private sale, if I can do so.

ALSO, 100 acres of Pineyland, on the North side of Tar River, adjoining the lands of Wm. Shivers and others.

Unless these lands are sold previously, I will offer them for sale at public auction, at the Court House door, in Greenville, Pitt County, on Tuesday, of next May County Court, being the 8th. day of the month.

A liberal credit will be given, which will be made known on the day of sale.

Any person wishing to purchase privately can communicate with me by letter or otherwise, at Greenville, Pitt County, N. C.

In fact, in a few days my stock will be complete. Now I don't pretend to say that I am selling goods at New York prices. I say no such thing. I do'l in no such humbuggery. But I say I have sold goods as cheap, I expect to sell as cheap, and I say I will sell as cheap as any Yankee, Jew or Gentile, who has paid for his goods, or ever expects to pay for them, cost houses not excepted. To prove what I say, and what I mean, I respectfully ask my friends and customers to call and examine my stock at the old R. Smith Building, corner of Fayetteville and Hargett Streets.

DAILY SENTINEL.

Monday, March 19, 1866.

CITY AND STATE ITEMS.

E. H. Sears has been confirmed by the United States Senate as direct tax Commissioner for North Carolina.

"The Old North State."—A disappointment in the receipt of material has heretofore prevented the appearance of this paper, to be established in Salisbury under the editorial auspices of the Hon. Lewis Hanes. It will appear in a few days, and will, doubtless, prove a decided acquisition to our State Journalism.

High Price for Cotton.—We learn that at the Administrator's sale, near Forestville, in this County, the past week, of the property of Henry Wall, dec'd, seventeen bales of cotton were sold, on a six months credit, at the high price of 50¾ cents per pound.

Wilmington.—Gen. Robert Ransom, Jr., has been elected Marshal of the city of Wilmington, and J. W. Anderson, Treasurer. Both are said to be excellent appointments.

The New Bank bills of the National Bank of Newbern are in circulation.

The Publishers of the Fayetteville News have discontinued their daily edition, and give us, instead, a handsome weekly sheet of twenty-four columns, filled with interesting miscellany and general news.

New Hanover.—William A. Wright, Esq., has been elected Chairman of the County Court of New Hanover, and John L. Holmes, Solicitor. It would be well for every County in the State to imitate the example thus set of putting at the head of the County Courts the ablest lawyers and purest citizens.

For the Sentinel.

Orange Superior Court.

Hillsboro, March 16, 1866.

Messrs. Editors:—Thinking that it might be of interest to your readers, to learn that the civil law has been again restored in our State, and that criminals, irrespective of color, meet with punishment for its violation, I submit a short account of the proceedings of the Superior Court of Orange for the present week.

His Honor, Judge Gilliam, delivered an able charge to the grand jury, which reminded us of former and better times. Twelve persons, two white and ten colored, were tried for Larceny.—In each case, the accused had the benefit of able counsel and an impartial trial. One only (a black) was acquitted, and the others, both white and black, received from 10 to 30 lashes each, which, I will venture to say, will have a very beneficial effect in securing our community from the many and vexatious annoyances to which we have been subjected. If the law should be as impartially and vigorously carried out in other counties, the wholesome influence resulting therefrom will soon restore the former good name, which our State enjoyed for honesty.

His Honor, in discharging the jury, told the large crowd, among whom were a number of Freedmen, that if the lessons of the week failed to restrain crime, severer laws might be expected from the next Legislature, and that, while honest and industrious colored men would always find their best friends at home, they must remember that they were now subject to the same law as white persons and not think that they could support themselves by stealing; that the time and work spent in endeavoring to procure a subsistence by roguery would, if honestly employed, soon place them above want and secure friends who would help them when in need.

Mr. Bancroft's Oration.

The oration was worthy of Elijah Pogram.—The British lion might fairly be expected to "put his tail between his legs and howl with anguish." The staple of the harangue was abuse of England and its institutions. What the tenure of land in Great Britain or the occupation of Asiatic forts by this country have to do with President Lincoln's birthday it is not easy to understand, nor does there seem to be much room for comparison between Lord Palmerston, who for upwards of fifty years was concerned in all the chief affairs of Europe and America, and President Lincoln, who happened to hold office during four years in a domestic war.—But these matters were dragged in that the speaker might have an opportunity to rail at and villify the country whose language he was speaking and whose authors he had in former times done his best to imitate. The taste which could invite an English Minister and his staff in order to inflict upon them a coarse invective, needs no remark. We can well understand that there were many among the Americans themselves who were shocked at the indecency, but we can as little doubt what we are told—that the bitterest passages in Mr. Bancroft's address were the most warmly greeted by that polite assemblage.

Mr. Bancroft probably knows enough of England to be aware that these harangues have little effect on this side of the ocean. We shall even proceed to the discussion of the coming Reform bill unaffected by this declaration that it is to "bury the dead," to "remove the worn out government of a class," and "to confide rightful power to the people." It is not the effect here, but the effect in America, that is of importance. Can this mischevious old man believe that any purpose can be served by slandering two such countries as England and France in the presence of their representatives? The Americans know their own rights, and are sufficiently watchful in maintaining them; they do not require to be continually hounded on against us, nor will it tend to the enlightened conduct of public affairs if they are made to believe that England is a country where the mass of the people is powerless and oppressed. It is to such declamations as these that we owe the arrival of a few score Fenian adventurers in Ireland, fully believing that they and their New York friends can overthrow the rule of the strongest, most resolute, and most wealthy government in the world. The Irish emigrants are so accustomed to hear the old country is effete that they really fancy they have nothing to do but to return home, get up a popular rising, and take possession of the land after the extirpation of the aristocrats. Such misrepresentations might be properly left to a lower class of politicians; they do not deserve to be countenanced by one who claims the high titles of historian and diplomatist.—London Times Feb. 27.

The Cincinnatti Enquirer says: "The Gee court-martial, at Raleigh, North Carolina, it is said, will cost the Government one hundred thousand dollars."

GENERAL NEWS.

Losing a Million and a Half Dollars Coolly.—We stated a few days ago that a Mr. Lord, of New York, had had his safe robbed of a million and a half of dollars. The old man is eccentric—sometimes left his safe open—takes his loss with indifference, and says he minds the newspaper fuss over the affair more than the loss.

The Southern Relief Fair in Baltimore.—The ladies in charge of the work of getting up a fair in Baltimore, with a view of raising funds to aid the destitute in the South, are progressing very satisfactorily to all concerned. On Saturday morning a large meeting of German ladies was held, at which it was determined to be represented at the fair by a table.

Confederate Dead at Franklin, Tenn.—Mr. John McGavock, of Franklin, has donated a suitable lot of ground out of his landed possessions, embracing a portion of the battle field of Franklin, for the burial of the Confederates who fell on that occasion.

The beautiful plantation in Madison county, Mississippi, known as "Annandale," the residence till now of Mrs. Johnstone, the Jackson News, of the 11th, informs us, was sold on the 10th to J. B. Richardson, of Boston, and that he proposes residing upon the place with his family. The price paid for the place was $50,000 in currency. As the News says, it is a "magnificent place," and before the war was probably held at six times as much.

A man named Martin, who was sentenced to the Georgia penitentiary for ninety-nine years, for the alleged murder of his brother-in-law, has been pardoned by the State Legislature, after serving twelve, it having been discovered that he was innocent of the charge.

In an affray which occurred on Felicity Island, Terrebone parish, La., last Saturday, a man named McDonald, his wife and son were killed, and a negro man, in the employ of McDonald, was wounded. A man named Bourg had squatted on the island, and an attempt to drive him away resulted as above stated.

In Columbia, S. C., a few days ago, two druggists poisoned some food and left it in a convenient position in their store. The next morning three thieves were found dead behind the counter.

The wife and children of Ex-Governor Isham G. Harris have applied for permission to the United States authorities to join the Governor in Mexico.

A man charged with an intention to assassinate Parson Brownlow, of Tennessee, has been arrested in Mississippi. He was ordered to Nashville for trial before a military commission.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 15.—Two hundred U. S. soldiers arrived here yesterday, and are at Fort Porter. More are said to be expected.—They are supposed to be sent here to see that the neutrality laws are enforced.

Mrs. Mansfield, of Madison county, Missouri, had the misfortune to lose her husband last week. She murdered him.

The New York Post says: "The Tribune is probably the meanest and the most unscrupulous sheet that is published on this continet."—As the Post and the Tribune worked in the same harness for many years, they know each other perfectly.

The evidence in the trial of the Express robbers in St. Louis shows conclusively that the plunder was divided with three "detectives."

Six citizens of Melrose, Massachusetts, who were fined $300 each for tarring and feathering a man who rejoiced at President Lincoln's death, have been pardoned by the executive council of the State.

The Northern papers are poking fun at Congress for being honey-fuggled out of $15,000 by Miss Clara Burton, who went down South and collected the names of several thousand dead Union soldiers, without being asked to do it.

The Senate of Georgia has passed the stay law over the Governor's veto. He says it is unconstitutional.

On Friday last two barks cleared at Charleston for Liverpool, with cargoes of cotton, rosin, &c., valued at $740,158.

The Fenian Excitement.

Later dates from Europe have arrived by steamer at New York. In Ireland and throughout Great Britain the excitement among the Fenian Brotherhood continues. A reputed Head Centre, for whose arrest one hundred pounds had been offered, and any number of British soldiers, were among the latest captures. In fact, the loyalty of the army, which was at first so triumphantly quoted, seems to have gone down in the market pretty considerably, and the London Post now starts a convenient theory that these Fenian soldiers are emissaries of the Brotherhood, who enlisted solely for the purpose of sowing treason in the military.—Fenianism had also turned up among the irreproachable police force. At a meeting held in Liverpool a considerable sum had been subscribed for the relief of Fenian prisoners.—With all these indications of the widely spread ramifications of the order official alarm was increasing, and several more counties had been proclaimed. The London Times strongly urges Mr. Gladstone to make representations to the Washington government on the subject. In Canada and in the North the Fenian excitement also continues. A correspondent writes from Toronto, Canada:

No one who is not here can form any adequate idea of the excitement, I will not say alarm, of the people, at the calling out of the militia.—There have been fears in the past that the Fenians might successfully attack Canada when the military power was unprepared to receive them, but the response to the call for volunteers yesterday has entirely dispelled all fears, and everybody now feels convinced of the power of the provinces to meet any emergency that may arise.

How Men "Bust Up."—Men with unassuming wives never fail. It is the husband of such women as Mrs. Dash and Lady Brilliant, who find themselves face to face with the sheriff and certain mysterious documents adorned with red tape and a wafer big enough for target exercise. The desire of a New York feminine to outshine her neighbors—not in mental acquirements, but in gingerbread ornaments and gold-edged scuttles. If Mrs. Dash gets up a game supper—woodcocks stuffed with gold dust—Lady Brilliant takes the wind out of her sails by getting up another, in which the prevailing dish will be birds of paradise swimming in gravy made of melted pearls. It is this rivalry, and not "dabbling in railroad stocks," that brings ruination to the fast men of Wall street. The "ill-fortune" of which they so much complain, is no more nor less than a brainless wife. If they would come back to happiness, they must direct their attention, not to the fluctuations of the stock market, but to the ruinous absurdities of their own firesides. Thousand dollar repasts don't pay, while the merchant who purchases one hundred dollar handkerchiefs for a "duck of a wife," should not wonder if the time eventually comes when a "goose of a husband," will lack shirts, or be but illy supplied with them.

SALISBURY BRASS BAND

REORGANIZED 1st January, 1866, on a larger scale than formerly, under the direction of its former tutor, W. H. NEAVE, who was also chief music writer and Band Teacher in Gen. Lee's army. He will be assisted in leadship and direction by his brother, Ed. Neave, leader during the entire late war of Gen. Lee's best and most favorite band, viz: 4th N. C. The Band is composed of the best members of the old Band together with the best members of several of the fine Bands trained by W. H. Neave, in camps, who have moved to Salisbury from all points in the State to follow their respective vocations and continue the study and practice of music. This Band will be a permanent institution for all State and festive occasions, and will equal the best to be found in the world, if sustained by those desiring a fine order of Brass and String music; if not, it must go down after this year.

W. H Neave is also agent for the celebrated Dodworth Brass instruments, proved and warranted to him, and by him to others; also, the most pleasing, effective and popular Piano music, selected by his friends, H. B. Dodworth and Kent Botsford, New York. For beginners, medium players, and advanced musicians, no trash for either.

Music composed and arranged to order for Parlor, Orchestral and Brass Band use for any kind and number of instruments.

Salisbury has been selected for Musical Headquarters for its central position.

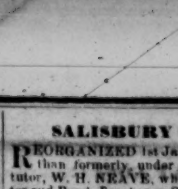
AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS,



Are the most perfect purgative which we are able to produce, or which we think has ever yet been made by any body. Their effects have abundantly shown to the community how much they excel the ordinary medicines in use. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. Their penetrating properties stimulate the vital activities of the body, remove the obstructions of its organs, purify the blood, and expel disease. They purge out the foul humors which breed and grow distemper, stimulate sluggish or disordered organs into their natural action, and impart a healthy tone with strength to the whole system. Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of everybody, but also formidable and dangerous diseases. While they produce powerful effects, they are at the same time, in diminished doses, the safest and best physic that can be employed for children. Being sugar-coated, they are pleasant to take; and, being purely vegetable, are free from any risk of harm. Cures have been made which surpass belief, were they not substantiated by men of such exalted position and character, as to forbid the suspicion of untruth. Many eminent clergymen and physicians have lent their names to certify to the public the reliabilities of our remedies, while others have sent us the assurance of their conviction that our Preparations contribute immensely to the relief of our afflicted, suffering fellow men.

The Agent below named is pleased to furnish gratis our American Almanac, containing directions for the use, and certificates of their cures, of the following complaints:

Costiveness, Bilious Complaints, Rheumatism, Dropsy, Heartburn, Headache arising from foul stomach, Nausea, Indigestion, Morbid Inaction of the bowels and pain arising therefrom, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, all Diseases which require an evacuant medicine. They also, by purifying the blood and stimulating the system cure many complaints which it would not be supposed they could reach, such as Deafness, Partial Blindness, Neuralgia and Nervous Irritability, Derangements of the Liver and Kidneys, Gout, and other kindred complaints arising from a low state of the body or obstruction of its functions.

Do not be put off by unprincipled dealers with other preparations which they make more profit on. Demand Ayers and take no other. The sick want the best aid there is for them, and they should have it.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., and sold by Williams & Haywood, P. F. Pescud, Raleigh, N. C., and Dealers generally.

if the Sicilian Hair Renewer does not give satisfaction in all cases when used in strict accordance with our instructions.

HALL'S

Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer

has proved itself to be the most perfect preparation for the Hair ever offered to the public.

It is a vegetable compound, and contains no injurious properties whatever.

It is not a Dye, it strikes at the roots and fills the glands with new life and coloring matter.

It will restore Gray Hair to its original Color.

It will keep the Hair from falling out.

It cleanses the scalp, and makes the Hair soft, lustrous and silken.

It is a splendid Hair-Dressing.

No person, old or young, should fail to use it.

It is recommended and used by the first Medical authority.

☞ Ask for Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer and take no other

DAILY SENTINEL

WM. E. PELL, Proprietor.

For the Sentinel.

To Lucy Lelland.

You've penciled well our lovely Ville,
The rosy cot, the sparkling rill,
Our palaces, and steeples tall,
With vine clad tree, and ivy wall.
The encircled pond, the dashing spray
The mill, "that turns the live long day,"
The mossy rock, the cedar tree,
The river, gurgling to the sea;
Its flowery banks, and light canoe
Give "sweet enchantment to the view,
The grove where leisure hours are whiled,
And where our mothers walked and smiled
With sunny brows, and beauty rare,
"Building castles in the air,"
Is sacred with its mem'ries dear;
It tells of those who are not here,
Of those we met at morn and eve,
Of the lost ones for whom we grieve,
Of days when silv'ry hope was bright,
Ere the cold world had dimmed its light,
Half hid from view, 'mid foliage green
Enwreathed, our classic hall is seen,
Adorned with troops of maidens fair,
Who climb the steep of science there,
Made easy, and delightful, too,
With landscapes bright as rainbow's hue
Inscribed upon the lofty fane
We see an honored, gifted name.
"Melissa wood" demands a thought
It seems to say—"forget me not."
Sweet tender buds around it cling,
Sipping nectar from the spring,
And she who guards this honeyed nest
Stands as a teacher 'mong the best.
The seat of learning, "without noise,"
Is filled with manly "grown up boys,"
Who seldom play their nightly pranks.
For which they have our hearty thanks.
The "fresh will out"; "et conveeo."
"Exuberant youth will over flow,
Leaping bounds of wall, and fence,
Playing tricks at our expense,
Hiding wickets in the church,
Nor fearing either fine, or birch.
"A little nonsense now and then"
"Is practised, by the greatest men,"
But when unhinged with loss of spoke
Then it is a serious joke.
I pause awhile—then think again.
A thousand links make up your chain.
With charming Syntax, graphic art,
You've sketched with life our busy mart,
The merchant, lawyer, yeoman true
All, all, are drawn with hope anew.
You tell us, that our statesmen great
Will bear aloft the ship of State.
I see her floating, floating back
Through a dark, and misty track.
On Afric's shores, I fear she'll strand
No more to bless a happy land!
Our noble dead! Can we forget
Their dying tones? Their graves are wet
With dripping gore and tears of woe
Wrung from our hearts, by hated foe.
I sing no more, resign my part
May Heaven bless the gentle heart
That seeks to spread abroad our fame
And give to humble worth a name!

A. CROWEL.

Louisburg. March 10th, 1866.

Love, Garters and Sausages.

About one hundred years ago, a young lady of Amsterdam, named Wilhelmina Terscheling, was riding on horseback through the village of Boxmeer, when her horse became frightened and ran away with her. The young man who accompanied her, and to whom she was betrothed, cried out that he would give a hundred ducats to any one that would stop the horse.

The young villagers who were playing ball upon the green near by, seeing a woman in danger, threw themselves before the furious animal. One of them was thrown down and wounded, and two others received contusions; the horse fell, and the beautiful Wilhelmina rolled in the dust. A young man who was passing, immediately threw a cloak over the lady before any one else had time to perceive a finely turned leg and pretty garter.

Mademoiselle Terscheling, on being carried home, had time to reflect, and the result of her reflections was that, there must never be two men in the world who had seen her garter. She sent for her betrothed, and said:

"Will you kill the man who threw his cloak over me?"

"No, M'll., I cannot stain my hands with the blood of a fellow creature."

She then sent for the young man who threw the cloak over her. He promptly appeared in her presence.

"Monsieur," said she, "I am rich and young (she blushed prodigiously while adding one of those hypocritical paraphrases by which women speak of their beauty,) I am not considered repulsive. I wish to marry immediately. I see that you are surprised. I will be frank with you. I have sent to you because you have seen my garter. You have rendered me a great service, Monsieur. Without you all the young men of Boxmeer would have seen it, and as I could not have married them all, I should have killed myself. But if you are not free, or I am not so happy as to please you, I will give my hand and fortune to a man who will kill you.—Do you accept? yes or no?"

"Yes, a thousand times yes!"

The marriage took place, and was like all other marriages, probably; we have no particulars on the subject. The young men of Boxmeer were invited to the nuptials, and sumptuously feasted.

At her death, which took place in the course of time, the following codicil was found in her will:

"My farm, situated on the borders of the Meusa, will remain forever, whoever may be the proprietor of it, subject to the following conditions: Every year, under penalty of forfeiture, on the thirteenth of May, tables will be prepared and a tun of strong beer and twenty ells of the best sausages shall be served to the young men in Boxmeer, as a token of gratitude that they did not see my garters on the 13th of May, 1756."

Until the present time, that is during a hundred years, the wishes of the testatrix have been punctiliously executed. But the present heir, on the 13th of last May, attempted to elude them. Under the pretext of conforming to the decimal system, he gave twenty meters of sausages instead of twenty ells, to the detriment of the youth of Boxmeer.

Not to lose, they demurred the twenty meters "under protest;" but this year they have brought a suit against the heir, and demand that the case be decided before the 13th of May next.

BEAUTIFUL.—At a Sabbath school anniversary in London, two little girls presented themselves to receive the prize, one of whom had recited one verse more than the other, both having learned several thousand verses of Scripture. The gentleman who presided inquired:

"And could you not have learned one verse more and thus have kept up with Martha?"

"Yes, sir," the blushing child replied: "but I loved Martha and kept back on purpose."

"And was there any one of all the verses you have learned," again inquired the president, "that taught you this lesson?"

"There was, sir," she answered, blushing still more deeply; "In honor preferring one another."

An old picture represents a king sitting in state, with a label, "I govern all"—a bishop with a legend, "I pray for all"—a soldier, with a motto, "I fight for all"—and a farmer, drawing forth reluctantly a purse, with the superscription, "I pay for all."

LIFE INSURANCE NOTICE.

THE old and well established
Ætna Company, of Hartford,
Offers superior inducements to all who wish to provide for family or friends.
All losses are promptly paid. No case of litigation has ever occurred with this Company. With assetts of $2,300,000, it offers to receive one half of the premium in a note and half in cash, and, after the second year, to credit each customer with the dividends of the Company, which are now 50 per cent. With a small outlay, $5000, or $10,000 or $20,000, may be secured to the family after their earthly providers are taken away. What father or husband would not feel thankful on his dying couch, that he had availed himself of every proper means to place those nearest and dearest to him, above the pinchings of want, and a life of dependence upon friends or charity? 8 819 policies have been issued from the office ending Jan. 15 1866. The total income for the year 1865 was $1,683,339 57; total disbursements $527 805 24, leaving a balance to surplus fund of $1,155,234 33.
In Raleigh, a large number have liberally responded and promptly acted in this matter; yet many delay, and may wait until it is too late. A man in this city lately left his place of business for his evening meal, well and healthy, but never reached that home except as he was carried there to die. Had that man taken the advice of the Agent, he might have left $5000 to minister to the necessities of a sorrowing family. Delays are dangerous, procrastination destructive. But one says, "If I only had confidence in the Company that it would pay, I would insure." Well, it never has failed to pay, and to-day is more responsible than ever before. It is patronized by some of the most sagacious minds in the land—men competent to detect and expose any deception if it existed.

Cotton, Tobacco, and all Crops.
In its action, it is as quick as Peruvian Guano, while it does not leave the land in an exhausted state, but on the other hand permanently improves it. This has been fully proven by years of trial.

COPARTNERSHIP.

NEWBERN, N. C., November 1st, 1865.
WE HAVE THIS DAY FORMED A COPARTnership under the name and style of Whitford, Dill & Co.,
for the transaction of a Shipping and General
Commission Business,
in this Town, West side Craven Street, on old County Wharf.
To the sale of Cotton, Naval Stores, Tobacco, Lumber, Staves, Shingles, Corn, and all kinds of Produce and Merchandise, and also to the sale and purchase of Real Estate and State and other Stocks, we will give our personal attention.
We are Agents for Murry's North Carolina Semi Weekly Line of Steamships, between Newbern and New York, and for Sailing Vessels for Baltimore, Philadelphia, and other ports in the United States, and for different ports in the West Indies. Thus it will be seen that we are furnished by our own vessels with the amplest facilities for the speedy transportation of Freight and Passengers. But in addition to these, there is a weekly line of Ocean Steamships on the same route, and a tri-weekly line of Steamers by inland route through Albemarle and Chesapeake Canal to Norfolk, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York; hence Merchants and Shippers entrusting the transportation of their freight to us, can rely with confidence on its speedy transit.
☞ We will make liberal advances on consignments.
All letters addressed to us on the subject of freight, or on any other business, will be promptly answered

PROSPECTUS
OLD NORTH STATE.
"The Old North State Forever."

THE undersigned will commence the publication of a Daily and Weekly Newspaper, bearing the above title, in the city of Salisbury about the 10th of March next.
The Old North State will be, under our control, a firm and decided Union paper. But while it will be firm and decided in its support of the Union, and of all just and necessary measures tending to its complete restoration, it will yet be liberal and conservative. It will oppose radicalism from whatever quarter it may come. Confiding in the loyal intentions of the great body of the people of North Carolina, it will endeavor to soothe the asperities of the past by promoting among them a spirit of reconciliation and harmony.
Rejecting the exploded dogma of paramount State sovereignty, it will cheerfully support the National government in the exercise of every power necessary to the maintenance of its rightful authority, while it will ever contend against any encroachments upon the reserved rights of the States.
It will discuss all the various political issues of the day, but in doing this it will seek to avoid everything like partizan bitterness or personal vituperation. It will also strive to avoid that detestable practice, so common among politicians, of pandering to the passions and appealing to the prejudices of the multitude in order to accomplish partizan ends. It will endeavor to enlighten and direct aright public sentiment, by disseminating correct information, and by arguments addressed to the understanding—in short it will endeavor to erect a high standard of political morality.
Its columns will be open for Political, Moral, Literary and Agricultural articles especially, and to the advertising public.
The Old North State will be printed on new type on the following

THE LOYALIST.

THE undersigned propose to publish in Louisburg, North Carolina, a newspaper under the above denomination, The LOYALIST, as its name imports, will yield a firm, uniform, and fearless support to the Constitution of the United States, and all laws enacted in pursuance of that great instrument. To the decisions of the Supreme Court of the nation, in such questions as originate in the interpretation or application of the principles involved in our federal jurisprudence or policy, the Loyalist will accord its unqualified acquiescence, as to the will of the American people, duly expressed through the only legitimate, determinate and sufficient medium. Its general politics will be those so long and so thoroughly taught by the patriotism, the eloquence, and the wisdom of Clay, and his departed compeers, and so fearfully vindicated by the present melancholy and helpless condition of the communities so recently arrayed in arms against the integrity and harmony of our national union.
The Loyalist would make the institutions and independence, the material and moral dignity of the nation, as enduring and as brilliant as the stars whose images adorn the field and the folds of its flag. The Loyalist will also dedicate its energies and exert its abilities to ascertain and cherish the interests, as well as to develope the immense resources of North Carolina. To the cause of education, the general diffusion of knowledge, the elevation of the masses, and the religious culture of all within its influence, it will be a consistent and inflexible friend. Its editorial department will be conducted by gentlemen whose names will be announced in due time.
The LOYALIST will be issued weekly, carefully printed, of the size of the Raleigh "Daily Sentinel," and furnished to patrons at $3,00 per annum, payable on delivery of the first number. Subscriptions and communications respectfully solicited.

1866. SPRING TRADE. 1866.

IN OPENING THE
SPRING TRADE,
I would return my most grateful thanks to the citizens of Petersburg and the surrounding country for the very liberal patronage extended the past season, and hope to merit its further continuance by holding out still further inducements.
My present facilities are beyond doubt unequalled, and no effort will be spared to place before our patrons Goods
AT THE LOWEST PRICE,
that the present market value will admit of, and in many instances much below, as we are constantly represented at the large auction sales, where goods are frequently sold much less than cost of importation. These, with Many Other Available Facilities,
I pledge myself to use to the best interest of our customers.
The stock is now much larger and better assorted than at any time previous, having added a complete assortment of
HOUSE-FURNISHING GOODS,
Among them the most elegant
Satin Damask,
Lace and Muslin Curtains,
Wine Cloths,
Piano and Table Covers,
Stair Linen,
Linen Druggets,
Table Linen,
Napkins, Doilies,
Towels, Crash
—ALSO—
WHITE GOODS,
Of which I have always kept a good stock, is now complete with everything the market affords. Besides a very handsome stock of Needlework,
Edgings, Insertings,
Laces and Embroideries
THE STOCK OF
LADIES' DRESS GOODS,
Must be seen to be appreciated. I therefore invite all to an inspection, and in catering so well for the ladies, I would assure the gentlemen they have not been forgotten. The assortment of Cloths,
Cassimeres,
—AND—
Furnishing Goods Generally,
Is complete, and it is hoped those in want of goods of this class will not fail to give us a call.
To the Merchants of Virginia and North Carolina, who have so liberally patronized us the past season, I return my most grateful thanks, and solicit an early call, assuring them they will find our goods at as low prices as any house North or South.
